

HOW CAN I PREPARE FOR THE FAIR?

I've got a few ideas

Find out which employers are attending in your areas of interest. Have a look at their website in advance, and plan some questions to ask.

I'm not sure which career will suit me

I've got no ideas yet

Ask people in different industries about their jobs to learn more about what might suit you. Find out from employers what skills and experience you should look to build.

I'm thinking about it but I don't know what I want to apply for

Use the fair to talk to recent graduates and find out how they made career decisions and what they like/dislike about their role.

I want to apply for graduate jobs

I'm ready to make applications

Check the exhibitor list and make a targeted shortlist of employers you want to speak to. Use the fair to get some tips on how to succeed in the application process.

I'm considering Further Study

Find out if further study is right for you by chatting to our exhibitors about courses available and the application processes. There will still be many places available across the country for a September start or later, so don't worry that you've missed out!

TOP TIPS

Find out in advance which companies are attending by checking our exhibitor A-Z. Keep checking, as this list is regularly updated. It will save you time on the day by making a shortlist of who you want to speak to in advance.

If it's a brand you've heard of e.g a car company, your first instinct might be to think they only offer engineering roles. However large companies often have lots of roles open to all degree subjects, such as marketing and HR, so be open minded!

If you are interested in a particular organisation find out about their recruitment process online beforehand. This means when you speak to a recruiter you can use your time wisely to gain a real insight and find out information which isn't available online.
